

Palisade™ Collection

Nemschoff

Palisade is a collection of furnishings for public areas and waiting spaces. It allows planners the freedom to create diverse settings, all of which welcome people, anticipate their needs, and deliver design continuity. Designed by Jess Sorel, Palisade provides for the needs of guests, so they feel comfortable and engaged.

The industrial designer Charles Eames said, “The role of the architect, or the designer, is that of a very good, thoughtful host, all of whose energy goes into trying to anticipate the needs of his guests.” Palisade embodies that principle.

Varied on Purpose

Palisade meets the needs of young and old, able-bodied and people with disabilities, those on a short wait and those staying longer, people who want to relax and people who want to work.

Palisade scales from small to large arrangements. Its variety accommodates different postures. The diverse topography planners can achieve with Palisade introduces vistas that break the sameness found in most institutional settings and convey a residential feel.

Unity Across Diversity

Palisade is modular and flexible. It can be reconfigured without extra parts. Its seating can take on individual, group, or booth arrangements. Its tables range from occasional to work-intensive. Its screens subdivide space or offer privacy.

Yet, with all its diversity, Palisade is complementary. Designer Jess Sorel has ensured that every element shares a cohesive visual language.

The daystand provides guests with a place to work while they wait. Optional power enables them to stay connected.

Be Our Guest

Anticipating and supporting guests' needs requires addressing a full day of activities, from eating and sleeping to sitting near the patient or staying busy while the patient rests.

Palisade's thoughtful features signal that guests are not only welcome, but encouraged, to stay with the patient. It provides for their needs without detracting from caregiving.

The Flop Sofa converts from a sitting area to a separate sleeping surface quickly and easily.

Great waiting areas are as varied as the people who use them. They provide a sense of personal space for individuals, safe places for children, convenient areas for families to be comfortable.

Palisade creates spaces that feel familiar and give people lots of choices. That empowers them to make the most of their time and engage with loved ones.

Empathy Designed In

Waiting can be a time that is monotonous at best, and extremely stressful at worst. With consideration of these and other mindsets, waiting spaces need to provide a sense of place that is both comfortable and secure.

With the Palisade Collection, guests feel thoughtfully cared for, with accommodations and distractions that improve the waiting experience. They recognize this as soon as they walk into a waiting area furnished with Palisade because it looks much less institutional than other healthcare furniture. Palisade addresses the emotionally secure component of waiting.

Looks Matter

Palisade lets planners achieve variety that enables people with a spectrum of abilities to engage in a range of activities. And, they can do so while creating a look that enhances people's perceptions of the organization.

Designed by Jess Sorel

Jess Sorel brings an artful approach and technical understanding to every project he designs. Driven by an intense curiosity about the context in which objects are made and used, his primary focus is on understanding and interpreting the world around him. He is inspired by bringing something new into the world, life spent outside the studio, and the possibility of delighting another human being with his work. He works in the San Francisco Bay area.

Our Story

At Nemschoff, we believe that people make a difference, things should be built to last, and design can improve the way we live, work, and heal. We've built our company, our furniture, and our reputation on this belief, and we continue this tradition by providing innovative solutions for any high-use environment, including healthcare, education, and public spaces. Our products combine high-quality materials and expertise, thoughtful features, and unparalleled comfort into a unique style of craft and design that you will only find at Nemschoff. We've stayed true to this path for over 60 years, and we're proud to offer you a broad portfolio of solutions that make a difference in people's lives.
